Named for an academic pillar in the club industry, the Joe Perdue scholarship provides financial support to undergraduate hospitality students that are pursuing a managerial career in the club industry. Qualified applicants must be currently enrolled in an accredited four-year college or university undergraduate program and have completed their freshman year. Since inception in 1988, The Club Foundation has awarded 168 student scholarships totaling nearly $300,000 to future industry leaders.

"I could not be more thankful to The Club Foundation for awarding me a Joe Perdue Scholarship. It not only helped pay for my education at Cal-Poly but also affirmed my love for the club industry and motivated me to continue along this career path and pursue my passion." – Ivey Yu, Los Angeles Country Club, 2007 Joe Perdue Scholar

Willmoore H. Kendall Scholarship

Named in honor of CMAA Past President, Bill Kendall, this scholarship provides support for assistant club managers that are pursuing the Certified Club Manager (CCM) designation. Recipients receive the tuition costs to attend each of the Business Management Institute (BMI) courses required for certification eligibility, including the Certification Review Course and the exam fees. Since 2002, 44 managers have been awarded a Kendall Scholarship. Of those, 21 have already earned their CCM and another 15 are still actively working towards that achievement. To date, nearly $150,000 has already been funded through the Kendall scholarships.

"I would still be a CCM today but it would have been a more difficult process if it weren't for The Club Foundation and the Kendall family for offering this scholarship. It made it much more budget friendly for my club." – Maria Domann, CCM, Everett Golf & Country Club, 2005 Kendall Scholar Created in 2011 with the help of a generous donation from the LaRocca Family, this scholarship promotes those that are committed to lifelong learning as well as mentoring future leaders. Recipients of the LaRocca Scholarship receive tuition and up to $1,000 in travel expenses to attend their choice of an executive level BMI course. Additionally, a second component of the scholarship provides them with funds for an individual that they are mentoring to be used for either CMAA dues (both National and Chapter level), to attend a CMAA World Conference or to attend a Leadership/Legislative Conference. There have been three recipients thus far.

“The LaRocca Scholarship allowed me to attend a BMI course that I might not have otherwise been able to attend this year. In addition, this scholarship has allowed me to share this win with my team and bring one of my protégés with me to World Conference in New Orleans.” – David Dew, CCM, Lake Toxaway Country Club, 2011 LaRocca Scholar
